@Wurst_Imperium

Apparently McAfee pulled a McAfee and false flags Wurst 7.0pre26 & pre27.

Can anyone confirm that this happens in the "commercial off-the-shelf" version too? I don't want to install McAfee to find out. 🙄

McAfee starts complaining with the commit that added AutoSword, but I don't understand why.

Undoing this commit in the latest version did not fix the problem.

McAfee is mad about two files in particular: MiningToolItemMixin and SwordItemMixin. These are used by AutoSword to figure out the damage and attack speed of swords and tools.

Removing both of these files fixes the false positive.
